Fund Performance

Yield History (%) 7-day

Net yields are based on the average daily income dividend and average net asset value for the 7 days ended on the date of calculation.

Net Yields (%)	7-day
Federated Hermes Government Obligations Tax-Managed Fund	0.66

Total Returns (%)	1-year
Federated Hermes Government Obligations Tax-Managed Fund	0.06

Annualized Yields (%)	Jul	Aug	Sept	Oct	Nov	Dec	Jan	Feb	Mar	Apr	May	Jun
7-day	0.01	0.02	0.02	0.02	0.01	0.01	0.01	0.01	0.01	0.01	0.21	0.66

Although not contractually obligated to do so, the adviser and/or certain fund service providers waived all or a portion of their fees or reimbursed the fund for certain operating expenses. These voluntary waivers and reimbursements may be modified or terminated at any time. The rate at which expenses are accrued during the fiscal year may not be constant and, at any particular point, may be greater or less than the stated average percentage reflected in the fund's expense table in its prospectus. These waivers increase income to the fund and result in a higher return to investors.

Otherwise, the 7-day yield would have been 0.66% and total return would have been lower.

Total return represents the change in value of an investment after reinvesting all income and capital gains.

Yield quotations more closely reflect the current earnings of the fund than the total return quotation.

Rule 2a-7 requires that money market funds maintain at least 10% daily liquidity assets and at least 30% weekly liquidity assets. Both requirements are 'point of purchase' requirements. Thus, it is possible that money market funds may, at any given time, have liquidity percentages reflecting less than the 10% and 30% thresholds. In such circumstances, the portfolio manager will be required to purchase securities to meet the requisite liquidity thresholds prior to purchasing longer-dated securities. Additionally, the SEC requirements for what may be defined as 'daily' and 'weekly' differs from the standard maturities used in calculating the 'Effective Maturity Schedule.' Therefore, the percentages in the 2a-7 Liquidity table will generally not equal the amounts shown in the 'Effective Maturity Schedule.'

The second quarter of 2022 confirmed that the U.S. Federal Reserve has made reducing inflation its top priority. After a modest 25 basis-point liftoff of the fed funds target range from the zero bound to 0.25-0.50% in March, the Federal Open Market Committee raised rates by 50 basis points in May and 75 basis points in June. These moves took the target range to 1.5-1.75%. In both cases, policymakers announced a concomitant lifting of the Reverse Repo Facility level, keeping it at 5 basis points above the floor of the new range. The Treasury yield curve rose, but its front end remained depressed due to high demand partly stemming from a flight-to-quality instigated by the Russian invasion of Ukraine, which worsened during the quarter. The Fed also began to allow a set amount of U.S. Treasuries and mortgage-backed securities to roll off its balance sheet rather than reinvest the proceeds.

Despite the Fed's aggressive tightening, inflation continued to rise over the reporting period. The Consumer Price Index and the Personal Consumption Expenditures Index increased in May to 8.6% and 6.3%, respectively, on an annualized basis. Inflation expectations continued to grow, as well, adding urgency to the Fed's approach, though exogenous issues such as soaring energy prices, stubborn supply-chain snarls and China's Covid-related lockdown hindered its plans. The quarter ended with the risk of a recession growing as a result of the Fed's campaign against inflation and nascent signs of economic slowdown.

At the end of the quarter, yields on 1-, 3-, 6- and 12-month U.S. Treasuries were 1.03%, 1.67%, 2.49% and 2.80%, respectively; the 1-, 3-, 6- and 12-month Bloomberg Short-Term Bank Yield Index rates (BSBY) were 1.62%, 2.24%, 2.87% and 3.54%, respectively; and the 1-, 3-, 6- and 12-month London interbank offered rates were 1.80%, 2.29%, 2.90% and 3.56%, respectively.

Ratings from Leading Agencies

Ratings are based on an evaluation of several factors, including credit quality, diversification and maturity of assets in the portfolio, as well as management strength and operational capabilities. A money market fund rated AAAM by Standard & Poor's is granted after evaluating a number of factors, including credit quality, market price, exposure and management. Money market funds rated Aaa-mf by Moody's are judged to be of an investment quality similar to Aaa-rated fixed-income obligations, that is, they are judged to be of the best quality. Ratings are subject to change and do not remove market risk. For more information on credit ratings, visit standardandpoors.com and v3.moody.com. Credit ratings do not provide assurance against default or other loss of money and can change.
